ABOUT THIS WINERY

Duncan Arnot Meyers and Nathan Lee Roberts made their first wine together in 2001, and they soon founded Arnot-Roberts. Their goal is to produce natural wines that express the uniqueness and beauty of their origin. "We are California kids. We love Northern California. Our intent is to express the potential of Northern California," says Meyers.

TASTING NOTES

The Watson Ranch vineyard is perched on a steep hillside overlooking the San Pablo Bay in the southernmost end of the Napa Valley. The vineyard can be seen on the top of the hill just east of the Green Island Vineyard which we sourced fruit from 2007-09. Exposed and austere, the Watson Ranch is a wind whipped site planted in 1993 by the talented grower Salvador Ramos on marine deposits over limestone.
